

DOCTORS OF DUNK TO OPERATE AT DOOLITTLE

The Doolittle Community Center's fourth annual Slam-Dunk Contest set for 6 p.m. on June 3 at Rancho High School will have two chief surgeons at basketball midair artistry on hand as competitors.

Darrell "Dr. Dunkenstein" Griffith of the Utah Jazz, a member of the 1981 NBA all-rookie team, will join the field of 11 competitors for the charity contest.

Another doctor, ex-UNLV and current Chicago Bull star Reggie Dr. "T" Theus, had already committed to display his wizardry at stuffing a basketball.

Other challengers include former Rebels Earl Evans, Lewis Brown and Jackie Robinson. Two current Rebels will also be in the lineup — Michael "Spiderman" Burns, who won the first Doolittle Slam-Dunk Contest in 1978 and Michael Johnson.

The rest of the field includes former Western High star Rickey Williams, who won last year's contest, former Las Vegas High trackster Kermit Williams, former Vo-Tech standout Doug Stewart and "un-believable" Chris Clark from Lake Charles, La.

Proceeds from the slam-dunk contest will go to the programs of the Doolittle Community Center.

Information regarding tickets can be obtained from the Doolittle Center at 1901 "J" St.
