a year, seemed greatly improved physically. Helen Humes was also listed on the bill, but I have heard recently that she too is not in the best of health — Sister Sledge, who gave a baseball team a winning theme, "We're Family," has waxed one for the United State's Olympic crew, "There's No Stopping Us."...Sammy Davis, Jr., who nixed several shots on "Love Boat," when it was under picket seige, will take several guest cruises — now that the docks have been cleared. Pearl Bailey is also set for a sail comes Sept.

WRITE SHOCKED & OTHERWISE: — Will wonders never cease? TeeVee's, most times, comic reporter Joel Siegel is reportedly preparing a B'way show about Jackie Robinson. Already the mistakes are prominent. The late Fiorello LaGuardia is given credit for Jackie's major league entrance by an alleged meeting with N.Y. ball club owners at City Hall to demand that anyone of them add a black to their teams. It's likely that Siegel will strikeout on many other facts also, because he will not touch base with those who were there, nor check the old Pittsburgh Courier, the newspaper which took bias write out of the American pastime...

LENA HORNE

HAPPY B'DAY YOU'ALL — In an age in which culture has bowed in battle to vulgarity, it is refreshing to have Lena Horne back where she belongs. Constantly on the pen and tongue of poets and people, for the now she has stemmed the tide of the malignancy. Happy 64'. On you it looks so good as you wear it like a young girl headed for a coming out party...

play about blackness, which it is not, and which Shakespeare never intended it to be. His blackness is never important to the play. There are almost no references to his darkness."

Aside from my wonder how anybody knows what William Shakespeare intended or did not intend — especially when they don't even know who the man was — it is with thanks we read Jack Manning's rebuttal to Miller in the LATimes: "No, Dr. Miller, not even 'darkness,' but BLACK is what Shakespeare writes about." Manning recalls Paul Robeson as Othello: "I can still hear Robeson's voice as Othello brokenly pleads with Iago: 'Happy for I am black'." Manning recalled several other bits of "Othello" dialogue which definitely refers to Othello as a black man.
