A Word Through Bishop E. N. Webb:

BISHOP WEBB

Christ will be honored...whether by life or by death. For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain. Philippians 1:20-21; II Corth. 5:16-21; Psalm 80.

LIVING FOR CHRIST

Many times we are encouraged to set some worthwhile goals for our lives. Words like "independence" "persistence" "will power" and "enthusiasm" are set before us as indicating life styles, which make life successful.

While many of these might indeed exemplify the good old "American way" the most important of all ingredient is missing. Apostle Paul reminds us of a truth that needs to underline our life, that is the very core of life itself. Paul says very simply, "For me to live is Christ."

That could mean a lot of exciting things in our lives. Paul opens the concept even further when he says, "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation." (II Corth. 5:17). Again, "He died for us all, that those who live might live no longer for themselves but for Christ who for thier sake died and was raised." (II Corth. 5:15)

This puts our life into a whole new perspective. What we do, we do for Him. That's really living!

Let us list some things that we do as evidence to the fact that we are living in Him and for Him rather than for ourselves.

Lionel Hampton added to a pertinacious belief that the icing on the cake of most super black celebrities is usually white. I suppose the taller their talent grows, the further it lifts them from those roots they would love to forget. This deserved accolade to the vibie veteran was dominated by people who had only come to know him after he had reached super stardom, and too few of those who had helped build the bridge over which he had crossed. The event at the White House was like 90-whites to 30-blacks. The Kennedy Center bash was emceed by two white deejays who were nowhere to be heard when Hamp was reaching for the musical brass ring. Mine has been a long love affair with Lionel and his style and have supplied write information about him through the pre and Benny Goodman and after years. His has been a historical musical and personal achievement that will never be forgotten. A king of his realm he has vibrated good vibes through the years...With enough talent to fill his 6ft.-5 frame, Ken Foree is expected to become a new TV force of the new season.
