STRIPES ARE SURE THINGS

Stripes of all kinds represent the looks that are the news, especially

In attractive city/day dressing geared to the warm-weather season. Here they are appealingly shown in some of the newer shapes.

Color — and STRIPES — at their best in navy, wine and white. A bigger, longer jacket of cotton/silk that skims in at the hips and matches the shorter, fuller pants. A white cotton cable-knit drawstringed top gleams underneath.

Stripes a-top, featured on a great summer "sweater set" — a longer, straighter multi-colored cardigan-jacket in gold, gray and beige with matching pullover underneath in a cotton and silk fabric. Worn here with a pair of khaki cotton trousers paired with its matching khaki cotton top skirt.

This new-version suit highlights clean-cut pin-stripes of white on a very soft wine silk shirt-jacket and matching knee-length wrap-skirt. The ensemble is accented with a wide strapless wine suede bustier.

The newest kind of suit, featuring pieces in new shapes, new proportions and STRIPES. White stripes on black viscose in a rounded collarless jacket and the matching wider pants. Complimented with a diagonally pleated black handkerchief-length camisole.
