The above phrase is not only repeated among blacks, but we are hearing this quite frequently among former supporters of Ronald Reagan, such as labor and many white small businesses. They, too, are feeling the sting of Reagan economic policies.

As summer approaches and human contact becomes more frequent, we can expect to have turmoil unless the Reagan administration does something within the next two months to reverse the ill effect of his policies. Frankly, I don't think there is anything he can do about it by then.

Failure to act wisely to stem the drift of unemployment into an abyss where human dignity is stripped away from the working people is sure to cause disruption and riots throughout the country. To paraphrase Robert Rourke, when you take away a human being's dignity and the right to feed and clothe his young, you must give him something of value.

The value which Mr. Reagan is offering to some white Americans is a law banning abortion, a law for prayer in school and a law against busing. It is worth noting how easy it is for these issues to take a back seat to an empty stomach.

In the last year we have seen an increase in bank robberies and domestic violence has increased. It is the cost we have to pay for policies which do not relate to the poor and the working class. We may note that home burglaries are down. Well, when you're out of a job and can't get one, you remain at home. Burglars do not rob many homes with occupants.

What we have stated above is why we believe Mr. Reagan's policies are a prescription for turmoil.
