RED ROCK VISITOR CENTER OPEN

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) opened the Red Rock Canyon Recreation Lands visitor center to the public last Saturday, according to Kemp Conn, Las Vegas BLM District Manager.

The center will provide informational and interpretative services to the public five days a week, Thursday through Monday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Conn says the center contains exhibits dealing with the geological, botanical, cultural, historical, wildlife and recreational resources in Red Rock Canyon. The center also includes several audio-visual presentations on plant and animal diversity and adaptation.

"The opening of the center is the culmination of a widespread community effort to set aside Red Rock Canyon as a public recreational area," Conn explained. "Many community groups and individuals have worked long and hard for the establishment and protection of the recreational lands and for the presence of a quality interpretative and informational facility in the area," he continues.

Located just off West Charleston Boulevard, ten and a half miles west of the Rainbow-West Charleston intersections, the visitor center is the latest in services at the recreational lands which has drawn an increasing number of visitors since the scenic loop was completed.
