cancerous growth of Conservatism on a state and local level. It would not be to the benefit of black people to do this.

The Conservatives are committed to dogmatic principles. Many of these principles have their genesis in self-enrichment and the lack of care for those who need the political system to give them a lift from the depth of degradation. It is the philosophy of the Conservatives that the political system should not be used to aid those in distress or in need. It is the philosophy of the Conservatives to speak ill of those who seek aid and refuge from the political system. People who seek this aid and refuge are castigated and identified as "those on the public dole."

The Conservative philosophy does not engender a commonality of purpose in the operation of the governmental structure. The Conservatives are more attune to selective private interest. This interest is usually not operated for the public good. This is evident when the public is shafted by some builder, or a utility company receives an unjustified rate increase. The public complains but usually to the deaf Conservative ear.

Given my thoughts regarding the philosophy of the Conservatives, I was somewhat surprised when this local judge called me up to see if I would support Leavitt over Bryan for Governor and Santini over Cannon for the U.S. Senate. My answer is not only "No" but "Hell No!"

It is not that Bryan and Cannon share my views. They don't. They are conservative in many areas. But somehow, in the midst of their conservatism, there is compassion for people which has surfaced time and time again during their political careers. It is this substance that black people can call upon in time of need.

So, if the Conservatives want Bryan and Cannon out of political office, they should not get any help from the black community.

Candidate Rally Set

The NAACP is co-sponsoring a candidate rally with other community organizations on Aug. 28, a Saturday night. The event will be held at Doolittle Center, Lake Mead Ave. and No. "J" Street, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Candidates for federal, state and local offices have been invited to present five-minute speeches summarizing their platforms. The political speeches will be intermingled with local entertainment and refreshments.

This rally is free to the public and will give the candidates an opportunity to meet with representatives from many community organizations. Some of the organizations represented in the planning for this rally are as follows: Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Fordyce Club, Members and Advocates for Minority Adoptions, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Las Vegas Chapter of Black Social Workers, Desert Rose Grand Chapter Order of the Eastern Star and Social Organization of Minorities Bolstering Equality Among Races.

Debate Set Saturday

Sponsors of the long-awaited debates between Democrats Sen. Howard Cannon and Rep. Jim Santini said Monday the starting lineup will be determined by the flip of a coin.

The decision on which the Democrats running for the U.S. Senate will deliver the first opening statement on Saturday will depend on the call on the coin toss, campaign officials said.

The moderator for the Las Vegas debate, the first of three scheduled throughout the state this month, will be Tom Keevil, editor of the Las Vegas Review-Journal.

The debate is scheduled at 2 p.m. at Clark County Community College.
