LAS VEGAS — The Westernettes brought honor and recognition to Las Vegas this past week with their success in the World Precision Competition in Washington, D.C., Rep. Jim Santini said today. Santini said he was very pleased to play a part in getting the group to Washington. The four term congressman was responsible for rounding up sponsors who contributed $5000 of the $6500 needed to pay for the bus for the trip. He also provided a Capitol Hill lunch for the group while they were in Washington.

"This wonderful group of young people literally knocked them dead in Washington," Santini said. "The Westernettes always stop the show any time they perform in Nevada. It was no different in Washington. I am proud to be their congressman."

The Nevada Democrat was commending the group for taking second place in the drill team competition and Billy Patterson for taking the top honor in the "group leader" competition. The Westernettes were competing against 36 other drill teams from all over the world.

"This group has come a long way in the past 10 years to become a world champion."
