Area Technical Trade Center Seeks Applicants

Applications are being accepted until March for vocational programs at the new Area Technical Trade Center which opened this fall.

High school sophomores and juniors may select from the program offerings which include culinary arts, construction trades, diesel mechanics, electronics, health professions and leisure and hospitality.

Interested students should see their high school counselors for an application. For additional program information, call Kathlene Frosini at the Area Technical Trade Center at 649-8742.

SEMINAR ADDRESSES

"SUPERVISOR-EMPLOYEE RELATIONS"

A November 24th deadline has been set for registration for the fourth workshop in the "Women In Management Training" series.

Sponsored by the Las Vegas Chapter of the American Society for Public Administrators, the two day program addressing "Supervisor-Employee Relations" will take place 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., December 2-3 at the Southwest Gas Corporation, 5241 Spring Mountain Road. The program is both geared for women currently in supervisory positions as well as those who are preparing themselves for such positions.

Workshop trainer June Spencer will conduct the program as she has for the previous three series workshops.

On December 3rd a luncheon panel discussion focusing on Women's Networks in Las Vegas will feature Joyce De Rubba, publishing editor for Las Vegas Business Women's Resource Network; Jody Warman, cofounder of Network Women of Nevada; and Barbara Allen, president of Renaissance Women.

A special reception honoring ASPA's national president-elect Ms. Pat Florestano will be held the evening prior to the workshop, December 1st, 5:30 p.m. - 7:30 p.m., at the State Street Restaurant.

For additional information call 383-3500.

CLARK COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Study of Slot Predictability Conducted At CCCC

CLARK COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE recently had Marc J. Goodfriend and M. Jane Garvey of Loyola University of Chicago, Management Science Department, visit the College to do a statistical study of the predictability of slot machines. Marc is a Ph.D. candidate in the school of Engineering with a concentration in Operations Research at Northwestern University of Evanston, Illinois.

Glenn Schuler, Electronic Games Specialist, with the Del Webb Corp. assisted the Loyola instructors with the technical aspects of the study.

Marc stated, "In order to do such a study I would need five times as much data as there are possibilities for each spin. The slot machine has at least three reels, and this particular machine has 22 stops or starts for each reel; therefore, the data that would be required for the study would be 22x22x22x5

= 53,240 pulls."

Marc and Jane are writing a technical paper on the predictability of slot machine outcomes. This study will be used by Russ Anderson, Coordinator of Resort Occupations at Clark County Community College in casino management courses. Anderson became acquainted with Goodfriend's work while attending the Fifth National Conference on Gambling and Risk Taking held at Lake Tahoe last fall.
