

Heisman Winner Rozier To Report to Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH—Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier has no intention of challenging a multi-million dollar contract with the Pittsburgh Maulers of the United States Football League and plans to report to training camp this weekend, his new agent said Monday.

Attorney Art Wilkinson of Philadelphia also said he did not mean to imply in a Boston Globe interview that Rozier had felt pressured by his first agent, Mike Trope, into signing with the expansion team.

The story quoting Wilkinson had reported that Trope threatened to reveal that the Nebraska All American running back had accepted money from him before the player's senior year in college.

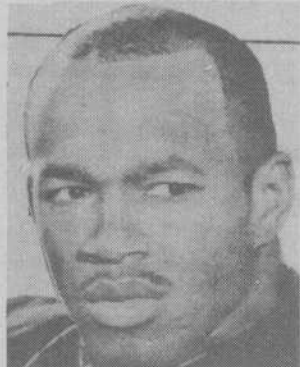

"Any inference in the story that that happened isn't true," Wilkinson said.

"I was misquoted or quoted out of context," he said.

"I have to believe that no threats were made."

Wilkinson also said that Rozier did not sign a contract with Trope until several hours after Nebraska lost 31-30 to Miami in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

Wilkinson, who said Rozier fired Trope last

Mike Rozier

Friday, said the top pick in the USFL draft had signed a contract with Trope at 3 a.m. Jan. 3 and signed an agreement, reportedly worth $3.1 million over three years, with the Maulers at 4 a.m.

He said Rozier, who was traveling from Japan to the United States, has no intention of trying to challenge the Maulers' agreement in court.

Globetrotters Set For Jan. 25 Net Invasion

The Harlem Globetrotters, the basketball team that has thrilled and delighted millions with its special blend of court wizardry and comedy, make their annual appearance in Las Vegas on Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The Globetrotters play their only game here this year starting at 7:30 p.m. on the 25th in Thomas and Mack Center.

Tickets are priced at $9.50, $8.50 and $6.50 with all seats reserved. There's a $2 discount for seniors, groups and children 12 years of age and younger.

Tickets are available at the UNLV ticket office; Davy's Locker; Charleston Heights Bowl; Valley Hallmark in the Boulevard, Meadows and Fashion Show Malls; Moby Grape; Nellis AFB; Stadium Saloon and Nevada Drug in Boulder City.

Proceeds from the game will benefit the UNLV Museum and Research Center and the Fitz House Substance Abuse Treatment Program.

The Globetrotters have become an American institution and tradition since first stepping on a court more than a half century ago in 1927. In that time they've entertained more than 100 million persons in 101 countries.

There's a reason for those numbers. The Globetrotters are magic. Not only are their court antics both priceless and timeless, they also play excellent basketball.

The Globetrotters are responsible for either originating, perfecting or popularizing nearly every phase of the game as we know it today. The slam dunk, fast break and no-look pass all started with the Globetrotters. They also introduced the point guard, power forward and small forward positions.

Some very well known athletes have passed through the ranks of the Globetrotters, including all-time NBA great Wilt Chamberlain and St. Louis Cardinal Hall of Fame pitcher Bob Gibson.

The Globetrotters are family fun for young and old alike, whether you're seeing them for the first time of the 15th. The cast may change, but the term "Clown Princes of Basketball" always means a good time.

Doors at Thomas and Mack open at 6:30 p.m.
