Parade of Stars telethon successful in nationwide effort for College Fund

LOS ANGELES — Stars including actors Diahann Carroll, Billy Dee Williams and Shirley Jones paraded across television screens nationwide Saturday for the annual Parade of Stars telethon, hoping to raise $15 million for the United Negro College Fund.

President Reagan, who contributed a taped segment for the show, also called Rawls from Los Angeles during the telecast.

"Over the years, the United Negro College Fund has done a wonderful job in making the opportunity of a college education available to tens of thousands of American young people," Reagan said.

"Thanks to the UNCF, many youngsters who otherwise would not have been able to attend college have gone to become doctors, scientists, engineers, scholars, educators, diplomats and corporate executives," he said.

The United Negro College Fund is a collective fund-raising arm of 42 institutions which enroll 45,000 students annually. Almost all the students are black, and more than half come from families with annual incomes of less than $14,000.

The fund was founded in 1944 by Frederick Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama.

It was incorporated in New York City the same year. The fund's first chairman was John D. Rockefeller, and its first campaign manager was Walter Hoving, then president of Tiffany's, the famed jewelry firm.

The latest reports show that the UNCF received more than $10 million during the telethon.
