

JACKSON STREET AND ME . . . By Rudi Jackson

Once upon a time a cute warm little girl was born into this world in SHREVEPORT, LOUISIANA, on the 25th day of September, 1954. She grew to become the ebony flower: Patricia A. Johnson who came to Las Vegas when she was 3 months old. Her growing years proved to be years of joy by way of the love and care in training in a good home. Early in life she learned to value the arts of learning so as to advance in home, school, and community living. At the age of 17 she was a graduate of Western High School. A burning desire in her mind and body led her to the doors of Las Vegas Beauty College, just one year after her high school days. After 9 months of training she was again receiving honors from the beauty courses during 1973.

Patricia let no grass grow under her feet after learning her trade and skills for the world of the working. Soon thereafter she was working on her first job in a beauty salon called The Clippers Boutique & Salon.

One year later she entered into a joint business venture of her own in the downtown Casino Center on Fremont Street. It was named Lelah & Pats Beauty Emporium. Being an enterprising duo, they also sold clothing and beauty supplies...The business was very good for 3 years until the building lease came up for renewal and she and Lelah were forced to come up with a much higher rental fee that would have left them with very little at the end of each month.

At that time Patricia sold her beauty equipment and relaxed for a year during which time she and her husband Ray Anthony Johnson welcomed into their life the beauty of their first child, Dena Trenise.

Roy and Patricia are the proud parents of two lovely girls...The second girl is named Anthonette. However the desire to be creative in the world of Beauty Care for men and women and their crowns of glory reached out and for 5 years she worked for The Broadway in The Meadows Mall.

Patricia came to learn greater skills of beauty care as she worked and met many new friends who came to be patrons who have grown to love and respect the fine art of skillful works created by Patricia in The World of Beauty Care.

After 5 years of working there she felt the desire of reaching out once again to start working in her own business. On Dec. 15, 1984, she relocated to: LOOKING GOOD BEAUTY CENTER. At this point of our interview Patricia added, "The move has really proved to be a good one for me and my patrons."

The lovely lady has not let the desire, which once upon a time started with her life, to have her own place of business and not be pressured by landlords and high-raising rental fees. Always looking for greater goals Patricia smiles and says: "Until the real thing comes along, I shall keep working to improve my skills and business as time goes by." She wants you to know that in her life she finds time to enjoy modeling with The Sassy Fashion Revue, Tennis, and Bike Riding, plus, to work with her loving mother and sister (Carlean Le'Fear and Doretha Murdock) in the family owned BLACK PEARL FASHIONS for Women and Children... Then above all of these there is the Great Love she keeps warm for The God of Heaven and Earth, and Her lovely family which is on the move towards a good life here in Las Vegas.

Say hello to her when you visit her booth at LOOKING GOOD BEAUTY CENTER...and say hello to her for ME-mona-modi/85.
