favorably for this action on December 10, 1985, and I also urge each of our community groups to become aware of the facts that our district's staff has developed. You can obtain a speaker for one of your organizational activities, by contacting Mrs. Kathy Harney at the Education Center (799-5262). I will be happy to provide your group or organization with information if you will contact me at the school district, 799-5310. This is an issue that we cannot take too lightly. Our vote now will determine what we do for the next three years, and will determine if space is available for our children who are just entering school in the elementary grades. As I have indicated before, we have a voice. Together, we can make a difference and that difference would be in the lives of our children.

Vote yes for pay as you go, December 10, 1985.

SPECIAL MEETING

On December 2 and 3,

1985, P.A.C.E. will hold a training session for community citizens at the Nucleus Plaza Center from 7-9 p.m. each night. The training program will offer sessions dealing with parent/student communication, educational planning, and helping today's youth ub a changing work environment. While these are rather broad topics, what we will be dealing with is understanding children in today's society and the problems they are going to encounter. I urge everyone to attend and to participate in these training programs which are designed to assist parents and citizens, but will ultimately help our youth.

requirements, educational requirements, and a myriad of other facts associated with being employed. The "we" at Western High School is a family tradition and alive and well today in the work of professionals with the students of this school. C.J. Hall exemplifies, as does Brian Cram, the attitude of the professionals who want the very best for their students and want every student to succeed. Vocational education has a strong voice at this school, and the program efforts provide ample opportunity for students to learn a job skill before leaving high school.

Student Spotlight

While this week's article exemplifies the philosophy of Western High School, it is not difficult to find any number of students that have been successful in the past and those who are currently enrolled in school and receiving acclaim today. Four of these students are Mary Ann and Gordon Lewis. Mary Ann was senior class president last year, and Gordon was vice president of the same class. Today, these students are enrolled at Claremont College pursuing their chosen career. Two other students are Anthony and Michele Hardy. Anthony was recognized as a Presidential Scholar, and this year, Michele has just been recognized as a Hugh O'Brien Leadership Award recipient.

Western High School has a family tradition. These are only four examples of the reason this school today has a large alumni association. It is also the reason this school achieves success through their students in vocational education and through academic pursuits. Western has provided education and leadership training over the years and continues to provide that same excellence in educational quality for the class of 1986.
