New EOB Transportation Facility Construction Begins

The Economic Opportunity Board's Senior and Handicapped Transportation Program will have new permanent quarters by Spring of 1986 according to James Tyree, EOB Executive Director. The project is a joint funding effort of the federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration, City of Las Vegas Community Development Block Grant, and the State Department of Transportation.

This $637,565.00 project, approved by the Regional Transportation Commission in May of 1984, is being constructed at the corner of Bonanza Road and "H" Street. It will comprise 4000 square feet of administrative space and four maintenance bays as well as parking area for more than 50 vehicles.

Tyree noted the transportation service has been operating since 1975 and has proven itself to be a popular important service to the Las Vegas community. The centralization of the operation, made possible by the new facility, is expected to make the service more cost effective. Transportation offices and dispatch are now housed in one location while the vehicles and mechanic are at another.

"We expect the centralized site to reduce down time and allow us to do more of our own preventative maintenance and minor repairs on the vehicles," said Tyree.

The facility was designed by Dalton Design Group and is being constructed by Richardson Construction Company.

Spinks considers title defense by end of February

MILAN, Italy — International Boxing Federation heavyweight champion Michael Spinks had a light workout at a gymnasium in nearby Garbagnate Thursday and said he was thinking of a title defense by the end of February.

"My opponent probably will be Gerry Cooney or Larry Holmes," Spinks said. He did not say where the match may be held.

Two LV teens placed at slaying site

Two teenagers accused of murdering a Nellis airman and wounding four others Aug. 10 in a West Las Vegas neighborhood later told police they were present when the airman was killed, a homicide detective testified Tuesday.

SNETP offering pre-employment workshops soon

The Southern Nevada Employment and Training Program will be offering pre-employment workshops for economically disadvantaged youth between the ages of 16 through 21 at our West Las Vegas Office, located at 928 West Owens in the Nucleus Shopping Center. These workshops will help prepare young people for the work world. The workshop will teach youth how to get a job, keep a job and to understand what an employer expects on the job. Young people interested in participating in these workshops should call the downtown office, 382-3900, and ask for the Youth Department for further information and scheduling.

Donald Ray Lee and Eddie Ray Hampton made the admissions during separate interviews just hours after John H. Brown, 21, was shot near an apartment building at 1908 Allen Lane, Metro Police detective Al Leavitt testified.

Lee, interviewed at detective headquarters, said he was driving the vehicle the man was transported in,

Leavitt testified. The youth also said Brown had been shot once with a .22 caliber sawed-off rifle, Leavitt testified.

Lee and Hampton, both 16, and Reginald Hayes, 15, are standing trial on one count each of murder and four counts each of attempted murder in connection with the West Las Vegas shooting spree Aug. 9 and 10.
