Francis Lee joins Jackson Southernaires

Francis Lee, from East St. Louis, is a dynamic gospel singer and powerful vocalist who's electrifying stage performances have brought her considerable fame. During her many years of singing she has gained a huge following of devoted fans. She is one of the hottest gospel soloists on the road today, on the college and one night circuits. She has become a sensation abroad, appearing at gospel music festivals throughout Canada, Hawaii and making waves as the main attraction in America.

She came to the attention of Motown's superstar act, the Commodores, while on vacation in California. She was introduced to the Commodores manager the late Benny Ashburn, by her agent Henry Nash of Subrena Artist Corporation in New York, and was immediately booked for a 96-day tour of six months to appear with the Commodores as their explosive backup soloist. She is the first gospel act to appear with the Commodores with the ability to open the show and hold the attention of the audience for twenty minutes. She also supported the Commodores in their performance of the Gospel hit "Jesus is Love" from the hit album "Heroes."

Powerful, stunning and magnetic are just some of the words used to describe Francis Lee. Few soloists have mastered a special gospel mixture of joy, sorrow and dedication as well as Francis Lee. Her singing combines both art and deep spirituality to a degree that is seldom heard. Her performance is of great power, whether alone on the stage or together with a band or orchestra. The enthusiasm that spreads through the audience is of such person-to-person magnitude that the audience joins her celebration and giving praise.

Francis Lee will be performing on Jan. 18 along with the Jackson Southernaires of Jackson, Mississippi and the Swan Jubilee's of Las Vegas at 7 p.m. at the Greater St. James Baptist Church, 316 Madison Avenue. For more information or tickets call 648-8180 or 646-1907.
