

Treniers in Fifth Decade of Making People Happy

The Treniers

LAS VEGAS, NV—The Treniers, known for their singing, dancing and clowning around all over the world, are now appearing in the Atrium Lounge of the Tropicana Resort and Casino.

The Trenier twins, Claude and Cliff, were born in Mobile, Ala., third and fourth in a brood of ten children. Both parents were musicians and it was not surprising that the whole gang followed their rhythmic footsteps.

After high school the twins were enrolled in Alabama State College to pursue courses in education, but the excitement of the music world (older brother Buddy had been singing in local Mobile clubs and the twins were impressed with all the young girls he attracted) was irresistible. They became known to many fine jazz musicians of that time and were soon on their way to success in the field they loved best.

That all happened before World War II and of course that little distraction played havoc with their careers.

For a time Claude and Cliff went their separate ways, performing with various well-known bands as well as making recordings on several different labels.

When the phenomenon of Las Vegas emerged on the entertainment scene, the Treniers, now all reunited into one solid performing unit, found their niche. They became the darlings of the "in" crowd as they played

Soon the general public latched onto their musical shenanigans and it's been reasonably smooth sailing since then.

When twin Cliff passed on in 1983, the remaining family in the group consisted of Claude, Buddy and nephew Skip.

This current group has now found a comfortable niche on the Trop's "Island of Las Vegas." Their present engagement ends on August 31; they'll return to the Atrium Lounge for the last two months of the year.
