BILLIE ROWE'S NOTEBOOK

Police Officers Run to, Never From

N'YORK CITY—To the credit of the majority, the policy always run to, never from, his or her duty. However the civilian population they serve quickly forget that, when a small segment of that august body of "civilian" soldiers steps over the line and commits what they took an oath to uphold. That is the core upon which the Big Apple must hang its latest scandal. The some thirteen alleged addicted, money hungry dope grabbing transgressors have caused a media blitz fallout that is having a smearing effect on the more that 25,000 dedicated male and female cops who put their lives on the line through an entire career to halt the growing encroachment of crime and deadly perpetuated violence. Sure, it would be wonderful if our system could computerize out the perfect total police force. We could also use it to enjoy the same blemish free religious system. Perhaps that computer would also void politicians and substitute statesmen and a corrupt free judiciary. For good measure it might click out a formula for a world of Godfearing people who would at least recognize its oneness as the human race.

For the now it would be expedient to remember that 13-alleged transgressing police-persons does not a police force, or policy, make. They certainly should not bring down one's faith in NY's Finest nor one of the best commissioners the department has ever had. Commissioner Benjamin Ward has added greatly to the force's record of prevention to match its outstanding apprehension score. When he received the ADL's '86 Civic Commitment

Award' for the PD, he was called a man of vision and whose foresight has set national purpose and patterns. His dept. is the first, and one of the few police forces, to establish a Bias Investigation Unit.

NEWS NOTES:—Retirement could be the toughest job Lee A. Archer, Jr. ever faced. He ended his sixteen year executive affair with General Foods where he added to his history as its first Black vice president. He was also chairman of its North Street Capital, G.F's Small Business Investment Co. Don't expect the former soldier to fadeout—he's got plans aplenty...Local bridge aficionados, Rae Dudley, Chris Connors, Alma Wright,

Elizabeth Peacock and Billye Oliver are seeking an excuse to exchange card talk with Judge Amalya L. Kearse. The Manhattan Jurist of the Federal Appeals Court and her partner, Jacqui Mitchell, won the World Women's Pair Championship in the Miami Beach bridge world class tournament...You should have an eye-ear taste for Rosetta LeNoire's scheduled "Hot Saki--With a Pinch of Salt." It will be tabled atop the AMAS Repertory Theatre boards later this month...Dick Campbell, Sickle Cell Anemia's most dedicated all-out disciple has snagged "I'm not Rappaport" show for the benefit of the foundation. This is the new goodie version of the Tony Award recognized musical with Hal Linden and our Ossie Davis giving it spotlight lift...It was all raves and no raps for Jubilation its '84 time around. It's coming back for its 5th. Ann'y season and will pound the boards of the Aaron Davis Hall in the shadow of City College. The young aggressive Kevin Jeff is founder and artistic director.

WRITE NOTES:—Hampton U. did endowment better in fiscal '85 to rank 96 on that prepared list of 100 such lucky institutions. The amount jumped from $40,129,000 in '84 to $58,785,000 in '85...That was Lloyd "Mr. Personality" Price looking clean and unmean the other approaching
