Zion United Church Celebrates Black History Month

Zion United Methodist Church is celebrating Black History Month with various presentations.

On the first Sunday of February, the Junior and Late Teen Sunday School classes presented "The History of Black Gospel Music" -- an analysis of the origin and emotions which inspired songs such as, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "Somebody's Calling My Name".

The second Sunday was assigned to the Adult and Senior Adult classes. Their presentation traced the Black heritage to the royalty of Cleopatra, then downward to Ham, the son of Noah, to whose decedents mankind

CNN Airing Great Moments in Black History this Month

In observance of February as Black History Month, CNN, Headline News and CNN Radio will be airing "Black History Minutes," 60-second vignettes on black American who have made positive contributions to society and the betterment of the Negro condition.

The 28 "Black History Minutes," one for each day of the month, air at different times throughout the day on CNN. Personalities, such as baseball great Henry Aaron, Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles and Martin Luther King III, will host the segments, telling stories about men such as Jackie Robinson, the first black athlete to play Major League Baseball, and women like Marian Anderson, one of the greatest opera singers the world has ever known. The majority of CNN's "Black History Minutes," however, show the day to day struggles of average people whose dreams and determination have proved more powerful than the forces of ignorance and bigotry.
