WORDS OF LIFE

*"If I take the wings of morning . . .
even there thy hand shall lead me."*

—PSALM 118:24

I — God is inescapable. We cannot flee from God's presence. How good it is that God seeks us out, even as the Good Shepherd goes after the solitary sheep which has strayed away from its right course.

II — Morning hours are peculiar. The morning hours, perhaps for the world's majority, find us working with at least some residue of the pain or brooding from the night. How often would we seek to escape from reality, to get away from life by taking a morning's imaginary or "make believe" flight. Still God is there with us to assure us, saying, "Peace!" Be still."

III — God will always show us the way. We like to think of God fondly in terms of the Good Shepherd image. Of the Good Shepherd it is said that He goes before His sheep.

No false steps! No untried paths! No emptiness beyond! Whoever we are "even there will thy hand lead me."

PRAYER POEM

God's continuing presence with us is perhaps best understood and revealed in the celebrated words of the Twenty Third Psalm. One hundred years ago H.W. Baker put the thought of that Psalm to the unforgettable words of "The King of Love."

*The King of love my shepherd is,
Whose goodness faileth never;
I nothing lack when I am His,
And He is mine forever.*

*Where streams of living water flow,
My ransomed soul He leadeth,
And where the verdant pastures grow,
With food celestial feedeth.*

*Perverse and foolish oft I strayed,
But yet in love He sought me,
And on His shoulder gently laid,
And home, rejoicing, brought me.*

*In death's dark vale I fear no ill
With thee, dear Lord, beside me;
Thy rod and staff my comfort still,
Thy cross before to guide me.*

*And so through all the length of days
Thy goodness faileth never,
Good Shepherd, May I sing Thy praise
Within Thy house forever.*

AMEN.

God's goodness and mercy follow us, no matter how far off we stray. Meet God in the congregation of His people this week!
