WORDS OF LIFE

"He put a new song in my mouth."

—Psalm 40:2

I. Do you sing as often, or as continuously, as you should? God expects us to sing. He expects us to sing old songs; and he loves the new ones, too. That's why when we keep on plugging away at our singing, suddenly (so we often discover) God has put a whole new song in our mouth.

II. "New occasions teach new duties." This is what one poet has suggested to us. If so, then we shall find ourselves having new things to sing and shout and praise God for. This is the way that God enables us to sing "new songs."

III. Sometimes we get the wrong tune. We sometimes even sing the wrong song. We talk about weariness rather than the strength which even enables us to say that we feel weary. We talk about despair rather than the tremendously imaginative powers that enable us to even envisage despair. Let God, then, put a new song into your mouth.
