WORDS OF LIFE

"God Will Supply Every Need." --Phil. 4:19

1. God is good. Most of us give at least lip service to the belief or the conviction that God is good. That is our "judgement" or estimate of the One beyond or judgement and who is, indeed, our Judge. But God is good are synonymous. It is by the standard of Godlikeness that godliness is assessed. Whether we may agree with God's will or not, all that is according to God's will is good.

2. God is our sufficient supply. This is a difficult realization to come by, particularly when life is bleak and all seems lost. A despondent soul, in the face of just this kind of all-too-common circumstance, thumbed through his book of hymns and the book fell completely open on the words: "Hast thou not seen how all thou needest hast been granted in what God ordaineth." While we are sleeping -- or even weeping -- God is doing and preparing for us good things far, far beyond our own imagining. God is faithful and true.

3. Nothing is ever lost! Sometimes we tend to feel that, when God takes loved things or loved ones away from us, we are faced with an unfillable void. Not so. In the plan and economy of God, nothing is ever lost. God takes good things beyond our sight simply that the better view or vision and experience may become our own. "God will supply every need." God -- the same yesterday, today and forever -- will continue to meet each need.
