The Little Miss Black America Pageant Presented

by Gwen Walker

The Little Miss Black America Pageant was held Sunday, January 14 at the Heritage Hall in Nucleus Plaza Shopping Center.

Hats off to Mrs. Pat Cunningham for another lovely pageant. The auditorium was decorated in pink with lots of balloons. All of the children were dressed like little princes and princesses.

The ages ranged from 3 months to 6 years.

Mrs. Cunningham stressed that the contest was not one of beauty, but one to promote self esteem, pride and to recognize academic achievements. The contest was also geared to show the children just how beautiful they all are.

The winners were: 3-23 months -- "Prince" Joseph White in "The Baby Division"; 3-4 yrs -- Little Ms. Brayhia Marshall in the "Tiny Miss Division"; 5-6 yrs -- Little Ms. Emaile Hill in "Petite" Miss Division".

In the Prince Division,

"Prince" Wyndel Brooks II was the winner.

Ms. Congeniality was -- Little Ms. Marie Antionette.

The Entertainment was provided by the Amos Sisters Quartette, ages 6 to 10. The Amos Sisters also presented their adopted mother Mrs. Georgia Amos with a Martin Luther King Day Friendship Award for adopting them about eight years ago and for being a "Great Mom".

The contestants were judged on their sports wear, talent competition, and their interviews. The judges were: Ms. Menyonne Page, Mr. Larry Weekly, and Councilman Steve Miller. The moderator was Ms. Faye Duncan Daniel.

All of the contestants were beautiful and handsome and were all winners. The auditorium was filled with parents, relatives and friends. Mrs. Cunningham hopes to see twice as many next year.

Other contestants included Nadia O'Kyere, J'mas Jackson, Taneya Stampley, Sara Johnson, Whitney Wilson, Tresee Lynn Spencer, Lazuisha Abram, Tyisha Cooper, Tejae Hawkins, Ashley McMillan, Raylyn Spencer, Janet Thomas, Tiffany Woods, Katrina Nelson and Aarion Taylor.

Visiting Royalty present were Nicole Williams, Nedra Lomax, Nekesta Shelton and Anika Jones.

Red Cross Seeks Nurses

The Clark County Chapter of the American Red Cross is hosting a Coffee-Open House for nurses located in Southern Nevada who are interested in serving in Disaster Relief, teaching Health Skills or in an Administrative capacity for their community. The Open House is scheduled for January 23rd between 7 and 9 pm at your local Red Cross office.

affair. Look for friends. If one of the friendships develops into a love affair, good. But find a friend first.

6. Be Assertive. Speak to the person whom you find attractive. Let them know how you feel about them. If they act disinterested in you, find somebody else. But never become discouraged. There are a lot of fish in the sea.

7. Be courteous and respectful to anyone who tries to get to know you. If you don't find the other person attractive, at least honor them with politeness.

8. Don't ever stop dreaming about a happy and successful career. Dreams become reality. At least try to be successful. Your continuous effort might just do the job of leading you to happiness.

9. Plan your life. If you want a specific career, work out a plan that will get you there. Your city's social service agency has counselors to help you plan your life. Never give up.

10. About crack, PCP, LSD, Coke and Horse: What more can be said about illicit drugs. You're a big boy/girl, so do what you know you should or shouldn't do.

11. About racism: What more can I say. Don't let racial abuse destroy you. You already know what to do. Do the right thing!

12. About you. Don't be unhappy. Leave the unhappiness in 1989. Find a way to do something everyday that will provide you with some degree of happiness. Your life is in your hands, so take control of it.

13. Try to make someone else happy. Try to help someone else to achieve his/her goal in life.

14. Every morning when you wake up and every night before you go to sleep, say aloud, "I'm going to make it, and nothing will turn me around."

Thirdly, we must revitalize our system of public health. Too many of the nation's public hospitals struggle in their role as providers of last resort. They need resources to update their medical equipment and recruit doctors, nurse and other key medical personnel. I plan to rise this issue in Congress and link the Congressional Black Caucus of which I am a member, and the Congressional Rural Caucus to examine the national plight of community hospital and provide needed assistance.

Finally, we must embark on a comprehensive mission to prepare our workforce for the year 2000. As mentioned previously, educational efforts in the early learning years (Head Start, Chapter 1), are critical to this mission. However, determined efforts on all fronts will be necessary to meet this challenge. Last year, I introduced the Workforce 2000 Employment Readiness Act, legislation intended to educate our workforce in basic skills and training for the new jobs being created by technology. Congressional hearings on this legislation will continue this year.

Undoubtedly, other national issues must be responded to, such as drug abuse, homelessness, public housing needs, the security of our senior citizens, infant mortality, and others. Above all, let us be wary of complacency. This nation has the know-how and the resources to overcome economic and social inequities. Let us begin the new decade with a caring and ambitious tone, and work to invest in the welfare of our fellow Americans.

CORRECTION

In the December 28 issue of the Las Vegas Sentinel-Voice a line was inadvertently omitted from the article on "The Brothers of the Dove..." The sentence should have read: This event featured the showcase stepping performances of the "Blue Phi Brothers of the Dove" - Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., the "Pretty Boys" of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc., the "Ice Cold Brothers" of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., the Sigma Beta Club of Western High School (a high school division of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.), and the Kappa Sweethearts (a college division of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc.).
