

15th Annual Convention, National Black Caucus of State Legislators to Convene in Las Vegas

Las Vegas has been selected as the site of the 15th Annual Convention of the National Black Caucus of State Legislators.

The November 1991 Convention site selection of Las Vegas is the result of three years of lobbying by National Board Member Assemblyman Wendell P. Williams.

The National Black Caucus of State Legislators was founded in 1977 and is comprised of over 500 African American State Legislators from throughout America, including the U.S. Virgin Islands. The main objective of the National Black Caucus is to seek the fulfillment of the goals and aspirations of African Americans and disadvantaged Americans by having a major forum primarily for African-American State Legislators interested in improving the quality of life for African-Americans and all disadvantaged Americans.

CCCC," said Meacham. "We offer quality programs including 39 associate degrees or the first two years of a bachelor's degree plus career education and personal enrichment classes."

The College's programs attract a cross-section of the community. Men and women, young and old, attend classes during the day and evening hours. The CC-

CC traditional student includes women returning to school after raising their families, recent high school graduates, industrial employees interested in upgrading their job skills, retired adults and persons preparing for a second career.

"We are proud of our students and our service to the community," said Meacham. "We invite all community residents to join us in celebrating National Community College Month."

the Cheyenne Square Barber Shop, then opened his fashion boutique two years later.

His four chair shop, plus two other enterprises in the area comprised a successful group of outlets that contributed heavily to the business climate of the shopping center, and merited his receiving the Las Vegas Sentinel Outstanding Black Business Award of the Week.

LaShore received his education from Clark County Community College; Small Business Management Course, the Educational Dynamics Institute of Las Vegas, the Nevada Real Estate Principals and Practice Course, the Tyler Barber College in Tyler, Texas, the Barber poor and wealthy school districts, based on the state constitution.

The Court's abandonment of civil rights simply means the struggle must be carried on in other forms -- legislative bodies, state courts and local agencies -- as well as in the federal courts.

narrow definition of what constitutes racial harassment on the job, for example, has already led almost 100 employment discrimination claims to be dismissed in lower courts.

Justice Thurgood Marshall has said that today's Supreme Court is no longer a friend of civil rights, and that while we should not give up on the Court and on legal challenges to discriminatory practices, we'll have to turn to other forums.

Important civil rights victories can be won in state courts as well. In October the Texas Supreme Court ruled that the state must equalize disparate funding between
