WORDS OF LIFE

PRAYER POEM

A member of our cooperative newspaper staff, whose name is not used by request, wrote, in what was titled, "An Evening Prayer," sentiments which arise in each of us. The words below have been published and circulated in a variety of ways. Many use them in their own evening prayers each day, as you may wish to do, lifting up your hands "as an evening sacrifice."

*Thou gavest us, O Lord, this day;
With thankfulness we greet the night;
Safe in the arms of thy great love
We sleep in thee till morning light.*

*The noises of the day are hushed,
The feverish pace of life is stilled,
We take our needed rest, and pray
That with thy peace we may be filled.*

*Enfold us in thy love, O Lord,
As we in sleep this night to lie;
And keep us always close to thee
That as we live, so may we die.*

AMEN

Let us rest in the arms of Jesus, til the morning dawns--and know that, as we rest, His peace and love enfold us.
