

Pistons' Thomas Not Targeted

U.S. Attorney General Stephen Markman affirmed that Detroit Pistons guard Isiah Thomas is not the target of a gambling investigation or federal criminal charges.

"While I am not, of course, able to describe the details of any grand jury investigation, given the prominence of Thomas and the attention that this matter has received, I would like to clarify the record as best I can at this time," Markman said. He said Thomas initiated contact with the FBI after a story about the gambling investigation was aired Friday, and he said Thomas has fully cooperated in the ongoing investigation.

The report, based on anonymous sources, said checks made out to Thomas were cashed at a grocery store owned by a man being investigated for money laundering.

John Thompson Considers NBA Position

DENVER — Georgetown Coach John Thompson is considering an offer to become general manager of the Denver Nuggets.

"He's been approached with an opportunity and he's deciding whether he wants to pursue it further," David Falk, Thompson's agent, said Monday. "His present intentions are to remain but I'm not suggesting something couldn't change."

This is not the first time an NBA team has tried to woo Thompson from Georgetown, where he has an 18-year record of 423-142. Several NBA teams have approached Thompson, including the Seattle SuperSonics in 1988, Falk said.
