Teens Speak Out

Rev. David Murray, Youth Pastor of the Deliverance Thru Faith Powerhouse has been working with the youth in his church on a special project dealing with the problems of teenagers. As a culmination to the project, each member of the teen group was asked to write an essay answering the following question: "What do you feel is the number one problem facing teens in the future and what can be done to solve the problem?"

Each week the Sentinel-Voice will publish one of the essays written by members of the group.

This is number four in the series of essays.

The number one problem is all types of drugs and sinful things that people do out in the world. And all the time I have, I'll pray for them in my street and hope that they run out of sinful things to do.
Amen.
