"Come Unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

The members of the Traveler's Rest Church of God in Christ would like to invite the community to share in their Church's Third anniversary Services—honoring Pastor Cleo Jamerson Jr. and his wife Sister Mary Jamerson.

Elder Jamerson is a man of integrity; one who teaches the whole counsel of God; he lives the life he preaches. Elder Jamerson has worked untiringly as volunteer Chaplin at the Indian Springs Correctional Center for 13 years. He has worked with Home and Foreign Mission, and has served as a hospital chaplain. Sis Jamerson has remained supportive of Elder Jamerson and has been a faithful steward in her own rite. They are a couple that believes in getting the Gospel message out; seeing souls saved, and helping others in general.

Recently, Pastor Jamerson had been severely afflicted in his body—to a point where he had been hospitalized and has suffered some paralysis. But we believe and trust in God for complete recovery in the matter. So this will be a celebration of joy in the Lord!

However, because of Pastor Jamerson's present condition the anniversary services will be held at three different locations on each of the following dates:

Friday, May 17th, at 7:30 pm Vegas View Church of God in Christ (C.O.G.I.C.). 1906 Glider
Saturday, May 18th, at 7:30 pm St. John (C.O.G.I.C.). 2301

Sunday, May 19th, at 3:00 pm Pentecostal Temple (C.O.G.I.C.). 1117 N. "F" Street

Come one, come all, to sing; and hear the gospel preached. Come and show your support for our brother and sister in the Lord. The Traveler's Rest Family are trusting, expecting and claim-

DRUG CONFERENCE BRINGS CHURCHES, GROUPS TOGETHER

The magnitude of the U.S. drug problem is no better illustrated than the startling fact that more Americans died on the streets of Washington, DC in 1990 than in the Persian Gulf War which involved 1,000,000 troops in land, air and sea combat.

Such facts continue to fan fears that we could lose an entire generation of youth to drug abuse. Yet, despite such fears, some church and community leaders say the war on drugs can be won, and they are pressing forward with major plans to resolve the problem.

"We can win this war," stated the Rev. Susan Taylor of the Church of Scientology. "We simply have to decide to win it, and then move with determination, cooperation and resolve. Everyone must get involved," she stressed, "from all sectors of society. If we do this, victory is as good as ours."

The Church of Scientology is the coordinator for the National Lead the Way to a Drug Free USA Campaign. Lead the Way recently held its first annual drug conference in Washington, DC with the theme "Youth and the Future."

During the conference, Robert Armstrong, Special Assistant for the Mayor's Office for Drug Control Policy in Philadelphia, outlined the innovative ing a miracle. Come and witness the "Great things God has done!"

On behalf of the Jamerson and Traveler's Rest Family, I thank you for your prayers and support.

PEARL program which has been implemented in Philadelphia. (PEARL is an acronym for Prevention, Education, Action, Rehabilitation and Law Enforcement.)

"The primary goal of PEARL," Armstrong told the attendees, "is the taking back of our neighborhoods from the insidious ravages of drug trafficking and returning them to those law-abiding residents who wish to live in a safe, healthy, productive and drug-free environment."

Other speakers, representing anti-drug organizations from around the country, included Harold Lakey, Virginia Sate Coordinator of DARE; John Duff, President of NARCONON; Ray Director of RAP, Inc. in Washington, DC; and Robert Brown, Deputy Director of the National Anti-Drug Campaign of the Congress of National Black Churches.

Lead the Way is a national coalition comprised of many different individuals and organizations, including churches community groups, businesses, attorneys, civic leaders, drug rehabilitation and government officials who are dedicated to winning the war on drugs.

"The purpose of Lead the Way," stated Bob King, a local elected official in Washington and Lead the Way Advisory Board member, "is to bring together people who are active in the war on drugs to share workable solutions and actions. It's to bring people who have questions and problems together with people who have answers and solutions."

In explaining the Church of Scientology's involvement, Rev. Taylor noted the the Scientology Church has traditionally stressed the necessity of drug-free living as part of its "unique pastoral counseling programs designed to raise spiritual awareness, integrity, and a deepened understanding of one's personal relationship to god. We simply wanted to expand our efforts in the anti-drug arena."
