DELTA RESEARCH AND EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION CONVENES HISTORIC CONVOCATION OF THE AFRICAN-AMERICAN WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

Washington, D.C.— Eleven of the nation's most active African-American Women's organizations will convene in a historic gathering starting Monday, March 30, 1992 thru April 2, 1992. Representatives of these voluntary and membership organizations will culminate Women's History Month by studying their past and present leadership roles and creating leadership models for the future.

This unique project is funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and is being conducted by the Delta Research and Educational Foundation (DREF). DREF President Lynnette Taylor reports, "This is an important first in documenting the unique contributions that these organizations have made as advocates for justice, architects of public service programs, and nurturers of women leaders."

It's going to provide a new body of action research for African-American women's leadership in dealing with racism, sexism, ageism and the ravages of deprivation and violence."

The interactive workshop includes the collaboration of:

- African Methodist Episcopal Zion Women's Missionary Society
