WYLIE DRAPER TO STAR IN TWO-PART MINISERIES "THE JACKSONS — AN AMERICAN DREAM"

WYLIE DRAPER

Atlanta, GA — Actor, dancer and choreographer Wylie Draper has signed with Moore Little, Inc. for national press representation. Draper, who has captured the plum role of Michael Jackson in the two-part mini-series, "The Jacksons — An American Dream," for ABC-TV, is currently filming on location in Los Angeles thru July. Draper will portray the older Michael Jackson during the "Thriller" hysteria, and The Jackson's history making Victory World Tour. The series is scheduled to air in November.

Draper, a native of Warner Robins, GA., was chosen to portray the legendary gloved one following a series of auditions held in Los Angeles. Before landing the role of Michael Jackson, Draper worked as a lead dancer with the Norwegian Cruise Line, where he remains under contract. Former dance stints include Walt Disney World's "Pleasure Island," the Lakeview Theatre productions of "A Chorus Line," and "Oklahoma" and the Connecticut Candlewood Playhouse Production of "Dreamgirls." Being chosen to portray Jackson, whom he deeply admires and respects, is a major thrill for young Draper. The four-hour film tells the story of Joseph and Kathrine Jackson, who had a dream for their five children, and the dazzling success of the remarkable youngsters who became The Jackson Five. The story will begin in 1945 with the courtship of Joseph and Katherine and climax with the 1984 Victory Tour that made American music history.

The series is being made with the cooperation of Jackson family members and by a production team headed by executive producers Stan Margulies ("Roots," "Separate But Equal") and Suzanne de Passe ("Lonesome Dove," "Small Sacrifices"). The Producers are Jermaine Jackson and Margaret Maldonado Jackson. The film is being directed by Karen Arthur ("Fall From Grace") with choreography by Michael Peters ("Thriller," "Beat It," and Broadway's "Dream Girls") from a screenplay by Joyce Eliason ("Small Sacrifices").
