Let's hear it for Luther Campbell, President of Luke Records, the Miami based label that's forever doing good in their immediate neighborhood, in addition to turning out hit records!! Luther's has got a call out for the many hit recording brothers and sisters in the music biz, to volunteer their time and talents and help him produce a major fund raiser in Miami, with all the proceeds going to aid the black families of the area that were affected by Hurricane Andrew. Luther feels very strong about getting blacks to help blacks, and he views the current cleaning up and rebuilding of South Florida, following the devastating effects of Hurricane Andrew as an ideal time to put this blacks helping blacks theory in motion.

According to Luther, "there are many groups that are putting on concerts in South Florida for victims of the storm. However, none of the monies raised will go to the Blacks in South Florida. Artists such as Gloria Estefan is putting a show together that will raise money for the Hispanics, and there is a variety of country western groups that will raise money for the Caucasians...so we Black Artists need to raise money for our people. We have blacks all over the city that need our help. I'm willing to put up the money for a venue in Miami, and 100% of the proceeds will be donated to Black families that were affected by the hurricane. I am also ready to do all the legwork necessary to produce a major fund raising show to aid black families that were affected by Hurricane Andrew here in South Florida.

Black people have got to stop depending on others, and do things to help ourselves. Can I count on you? If you have any questions contact Debbie Z. Bennett or myself at (305)757-1969.

Actor Art Evans sure surprised a lot of people at the recent "Long Beach Blues Festival," by playing his blues harmonica and singing 'the blues' after Ruth Brown, the festival M.C., who also replaced Etta James on the bill after she canceled, brought him out on stage and introduced him to crowd. It also seems that his love for the blues and his ability to perform, has started something new for the actor. We understand there are several offers being considered for Art to host some 'blues festivals' and also perform behind his brief electrifying performance at the Long Beach Blues Festival.

Roger E. Mosley's Annual Celebrity Softball Game that took place Sunday, September 20th, to benefit the Sickle Cell Disease Research Foundation still has Tinseltowners talking!! Especially, behind Roger flying and landing his helicopter at Darby Park, where the game took place, before assuming his role as the commissioner of the game, as well as the play by play announcer.

The "National Anthem" was sung by Glynn Turman with some coaching and a lot of help from JoMarie Payton-France, and the crowd.

With co-captains JoMarie Payton-France of "Family Matters" and Marie Ellis Bryant from "Roots Christmas" calling the shots, the celebrities garbed in yellow T-shirts defeated the celebrities in the blue T-shirts who were co-captained by Tatyana Ali from "Fresh Prince of Bel Air" and Geri Williams host of "Geri's Nu Music Review Show on Cable TV, who's also the daughter of veteran cult recording artist Swamp Dogg. The final score of this fun filled softball classic was 10 to 8.
