vada is a Bush state, they're full of it! We've got to get out there and beat the bushes! We've got to get out there and win this state big, for Bill Clinton!!

Mayor Jan Lavery Jones told the crowd about the significance of women in this year's election.

"One message I would like to give this crowd is that women will be the "deciding factor" in the way this election is going!" she said.

State Senator Joe Neal, who briefly assumed the office of Acting Governor of the State of Nevada while Governor Miller was away on state business, reminded the crowd that it had been twenty years since Nevada was won by a Democratic President.

"I hope that all of you, all of you will come out on November 3rd and vote the Democratic ticket!" he said.

Light Heavyweight Boxing Champion Tommy Hearns brought thousands of cheers as he encouraged the students to vote. Hearns said that usually when he came to Vegas it was to fight a boxing opponent but that his visit to UNLV was purposely made to voice his support for Governor Clinton and to encourage his fans and the general public to support the Clinton/Gore ticket.

Finally, Governor Bob Miller gave a stirring introduction as he presented Governor Bill Clinton to the crowd. He said that he was proud to be the Governor of a "small state" and that he was proud to be a friend of the Governor of a "small Southern State."

In this election, we have one candidate that is, special interest and who suggests that to cure the economic ills of this country, we should tack on 50 cents to every gallon of gas. That will do wonders for our economy! Well thank God, there is one candidate that represents all of us and that is, Governor Bill Clinton!" he said.

"Al Gore and I have been crisscrossing the country fighting against our opponents, and we have become the Runnin' Rebels in this campaign," Clinton said as the crowd responded with applause and cheers.

NEVADA'S FUTURE:

To relieve traffic, Sen. Harry Reid has brought home over $800 million of our gasoline tax dollars to improve roads and highways throughout Nevada.

To preserve our environment, Sen. Harry Reid created the Great Basin National Park and set aside 700,000 acres of pristine wilderness for future generations.

PROBLEMS?

What kind of Nevada do we want to leave our children? One of polluted air and big city problems? Drugs in the schools and violence in our homes? Low-paying jobs and lack of opportunity? That's the way life is in much of America today. But it doesn't have to be that way in Nevada.

OR PROMISE?

There's still time to keep the worst problems from happening here. To succeed, we must be on guard against the threats we face. And care enough to do something about them. Working together, we can leave our children an even greater Nevada than the one we enjoy today.

THE CHOICE IS UP TO US.
