

MEDICINE

(Continued from Page 17) stitches in my hand and he took them out for me. I was so impressed that he could do it right in his home! He always told me that I would make a great doctor. All I had to do was to do well in school and, most of all, want to help people." When Terry gets that M.D. after her name, she wants to work with teenagers. "There are so many pressures during the teen years. I enjoy people and I'd like to help this special group and find some answers to make these years easier," she says. Terry also likes to cook, play games, travel and "act crazy" with her family and friends. "I like to laugh and make others laugh."

Her advice if you're interested in medicine? "There are lots of aspects to medicine. You don't have to be a genius to be a doctor, but you have to be committed and disciplined," she says. "A good doctor is not one who gets perfect grades and knows all the facts, but one who also can talk to and care for patients. Yes, it's hard work, but the love of medicine keeps me going."

Note to readers: If you are interested in participating in a summer program to help prepare for medical school, contact your local college or university. There are a large number of summer programs across the country for high school, undergraduate and graduate minority students.

Most programs run for six to eight weeks and scholarships, fellowships, awards and other forms of financial aid are available.

Phase Three will add two classrooms to the Preschool Wing.

Construction of the facility will be completed in the three phases with a total cost estimated at $1.4 million. Officials are hopeful the land for the facility, which can be traded for property in the locale of the desired construction site, will be donated to the Clark County School District, or property presently owned by the School district will be used.

The $450,00 Community Development Block Grant for the West Las Vegas Early Childhood Center was approved by the Clark County Commission as part of an annual allocation of U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development funding for County projects.

"We will sit there indeed, until each student gets off the bus. We feel then, that the school district should provide any further security. That is their job. Once that child steps on that bus, he is under the authority of the school system," he reiterated.

When asked when he planned on launching the new security measures, he responded that they were observing the area and wanted to get input from affected parents and other residents before taking action.

"Nobody really wants to deal with us, not on a 'violent' entity. They're generally cowards! Notice that these were small children - young teens (13-14 yrs. old) - that these big guys - high school students - were messing with, and I think that once they realize that there are older brothers who were
