

Vocal Extravaganza: A musical smash

Photos by John Broussard

(Continued from Page 1)

the most appropriate things the city has done since she's been here.

"You can't get much better than this," she said.

Lamar Williams, a South Carolina St. business major and school choir member, liked Vegas' weather, the vocal skill on display, the comradery between the choirs and being on the opposite side of a performance.

"Morgan State's choir impressed me the most," he said. That choir understands music because it's comprised mostly of music majors, he said.

Williams said he hopes his school participates annually.

So do the event organizers.

"The entire process was exciting for everyone involved," Event Chairman Marilyn Gubler said.

"These voices instill excitement, passion and inspiration in all who hear them," Advisory Committee Chairman Bob Bailey said.

Jack "The Rapper" Gibson

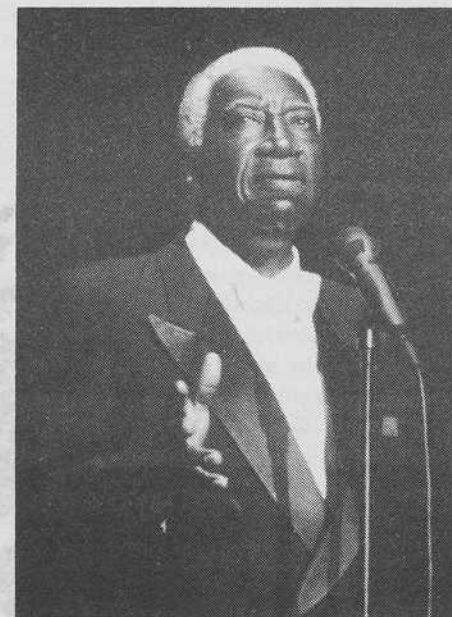

The Langston University Choir

Soloist Valerie Lewis

At right, event organizer Bob Bailey with members of After 7

Singer Joe Williams

NLV Councilman Theron Goynes and Rachel Robinson, widow of the late baseball star Jackie Robinson.

Get prequalified today, and move tomorrow.

Some loans require no money down
No Qualifying Loans available
FHA, VA, Conventional, Equity Loans

Profed Mortgage

Crystal Cole
Senior Loan Officer

501 S. Rancho Dr., Suite B-10 • 366-1266 • Pager 391-7474