

Fire

(Continued from Page 3) churches — could be a continuation of that crime spree, or they could be copycat attacks, Ingram said Wednesday.

FBI acting assistant director Chip Burrus said investigators are working on the assumption that all nine fires are connected.

All of the churches are Baptist, the dominant faith in the area, and all were off rural roads not far from highways. The fires were in two clusters: the first five all in Bibb County, south of Birmingham, and the latest four in western Alabama 10 to 20 miles apart.

Three of the fires Tuesday appeared to have started near the churches' altars, according to church members and authorities, and at least two were found to be arson.

Rich Marianos, a spokesman for the federal Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives agency, said more than 50 agents are now assigned to the investigation and it is the No. 1 priority nationally.

In Boligee, Archibald said he was told by a resident that a sport-utility vehicle had been seen speeding through an intersection near the church.

Members of the Old Union Baptist Church in Brierfield, damaged by fire early Friday, had earlier told The Associated Press they saw a dark SUV near their church as they arrived to douse the flames.

Archibald's Morning Star

Baptist Church was reduced to smoking rubble. Burned to its concrete block foundation, all that remained of the wood-frame building was the front steps and handrail.

The Las Vegas Valley Water District

OPPORTUNITY AVAILABLE

DIRECTOR OF EXHIBITS - LVSP
Salary $74,513 annually. Open until filled. Apply now for an exciting opportunity to create a legacy exhibits/curatorial program for the Las Vegas Springs Preserve (LVSP). As the Director of Exhibits for LVSP, you will be the principal architect in developing, implementing and managing a diverse curatorial operation. LVSP is a 180-acre nature habitat & the birthplace of Las Vegas. Owned by the Las Vegas Valley Water District, this historic site, scheduled to open in the Spring of 2007, will feature a visitor center/museum; desert living center; plant & wildlife habitats; conservation projects; and research, educational & administrative facilities.

Use your strong conceptual and planning skills, together with sensitivity and commitment to the role museums play in enhancing the quality of community life, to ensure LVSP is prepared to achieve its strategic vision and long-term goals of service and education. Direct all exhibits/curatorial activities, including all phases of collections management, exhibit design/conservation and public programming. Integrate, coordinate and direct the professional work of several curators who have individual responsibility for a collection and/or related field of study. Establish goals and objectives for individual collection development, maintenance and expansion, and the enhancement of research and educational activities.

Requires graduation from college or university with a masters degree in art, art history, arts administration or related field; five years of progressively responsible professional experience involved in curatorial operations in a museum, natural preserve or a similar environment, including the collection, identification, classification, exhibition and conservation of specimens; at least two years of which were in an administrative or supervisory capacity; or an equivalent combination of training and experience.
