

JACK LEONE IS LEAVING HIS CANCER IN THE DESERT.

IN THE SPRING OF 2005, JACK LEONE WAS DIAGNOSED WITH PROSTATE CANCER. AFTER CONSULTING WITH HIS OWN DOCTORS, HE WAS REFERRED TO NEVADA CANCER INSTITUTE, WHERE PREEMINENT ONCOLOGISTS, SCIENTISTS AND RESEARCHERS FROM AROUND THE COUNTRY USED STATE-OF-THE-ART TECHNOLOGY TO TREAT HIS ILLNESS. SO FAR, JACK'S OUTLOOK IS GOOD: HE'S RE-APPROACHING HIS PHYSICAL PEAK, ACTIVELY HIKING, BIKING AND RUNNING. PERHAPS JUST AS IMPORTANTLY, JACK HAS DISCOVERED FOR HIMSELF THAT HOPE THRIVES IN THE DESERT.
