

Scenes from the 2007 MLK Parade

Braving colder-than-usual temperatures that hovered near freezing, more than 10,000 people gathered along 4th Street in downtown Las Vegas to watch more than 100 entrants march in the annual Martin Luther King Jr. Parade.

As usual, the parade featured an array of organizations representing a who's who in the African-American community and the community abroad. There were schools, high school bands, car clubs, fraternities, sororities, Masonic organizations, businesses, civic groups, nonprofit organizations, churches and much more. The highlights were the elaborate floats and the exciting band performances and step performances by fraternity and sorority members and their youth groups.

Sentinel-Voice photos by John Broussard

