Historical Background

Founded in 1964 as an extension of the League of Women Voters (LWV), the League of Women Voters of Las Vegas Valley, Nevada (LWVLVV) formed to monitor government activity and impact public policy through education and advocacy. The first official meeting occurred on May 7, 1964 and established the reach of the organization and the LWVLVV bylaws. By November of 1964, seventy-one members comprised the LWVLVV and included prominent Las Vegas figures, Flora Dungan and Jean Ford. In May of 1965, the LWV recognized the LWVLVV as an official LWV entity. The LWVLVV officially changed its name to the League of Women Voters of Southern Nevada (LWVSN) in 2017. The LWVSN was formally dissolved in December 2021.

Scope and Contents Note

The League of Women Voters of Las Vegas Valley (LWVLVV) Records contain the records and publications of the League during its establishment and existence from 1957 to 2021. Margaret Quinn, a member of the LWVLVV beginning in 1964, Director of Membership from 1979 to 1981, and President from 1981 to 1985, donated a portion of this collection. Materials include annual reports, LWVLVV bylaws, membership lists, and treasurer reports. The most extensive material in the collection are related to political issues including abortion, school integration, and environmental pollution issues in Southern Nevada. The collection also contains LWVLVV political campaign questionnaires, publications, audiovisual materials, scrapbooks, and awards received from the community. Later accessions include copies of LWVLVV newsletters and materials Margaret Quinn collected during her time as a member and leader of the League. Some audiovisual materials have been digitized and are available as digital files.
