Biographical Note

Las Vegas High School (LVHS) teacher Evelyn Stuckey founded a dance troupe for girls at LVHS in 1949 and named them the Rhythmettes. The group went on to great success, appearing widely in Las Vegas and performing across the United States. Born (Mary) Evelyn Stuckey September 10, 1921 in Gordo, Alabama, she earned her B.S. degree from Florida State Women's College now Florida State University in 1946 majoring in Education with a concentration in Physical Education. Following graduation, she worked for two years for the Board of Health in Florida. She joined the faculty at Las Vegas High School in 1949 as the Physical Education instructor for female students. She remained a teacher at LVHS until she died of cancer on April 10, 1980.

At Las Vegas High School, she organized the Rhythmettes dance group for girls in 1949. The group became popular and made many public appearances promoting Las Vegas. The Rhythmettes appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show and at the 1964 World's Fair in New York. Stuckey disbanded the original Rhythmettes in June 1966 due to her ill health, but restarted the group in 1974 and remained their Director/Advisor until 1979.
