| Abstract: | Oral history interview with Eva G. Simmons conducted by Khary D. Black on May 04, 2004 for the Public School Principalsip Oral History Project. In this interview, Simmons reflects upon her 27 years as an administrator with Nevada's Clark County School District (CCSD). She describes the process by which she became a teacher and eventually an administrator, and discusses the significance of the Teacher Advisory Committee in the development of her philosophy of school administration. She discusses student ethics, corporal punishment, cultural diversity, and bilingual programs within the school district, in addition to challenges that she faced from public entities and parents. |
